VOLUME LXVI NUMBER 32

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1944

At the western edge of Michigan's copper country—that once fabulous land of overnight mining booms, fantastic profits and expanding settlements—is a dot on the map known as Silver City.

It was at Silver City, a few miles west of Ontonagon on Lake Superior, that a group of newspaper writers began a two-day "exploration" of Michigan's Porcupine Mountain area. A few tourist cabins and a tavern are all that is left to Silver City, where miners in 1875 extracted silver from veins in rock along the Iron River, leading to real estate speculation and the subdividing of land for a town.

Silver City is headed for new prominence. It is the entrance to the largest unbroken tract of virgin hardwood timber left in the United States. And what is more important it is the gateway to a recreational area and a timber museum comprising 42,000 acres, soon to be owned by the State of Michigan through action of the 1944 state legislature. Unique from any other tract in Michigan here is a true wilderness.

In your easy chair, try imagining a vast forest of maple, birch, basswood, hemlock, and white pine—just to mention a few—through which you tramp for hours without once seeing or crossing a public road.

Imagine that you are hiking to Mirror Lake in the heart of this forest. You follow an old wagon trail for five miles from Quigley's lumber camp to the abandoned White Pine extension mine. It has rained recently. The trail is soggy.

You pause to inspect a ghost mining camp of rotting log cabins and shambles. Then you pick up a new trail going northerly. When the lug marks of a tractor bulldozer appear on the ground, the guide recalls how an army bomber crashed near Mirror Lake last March. All passengers had parachuted to safety.

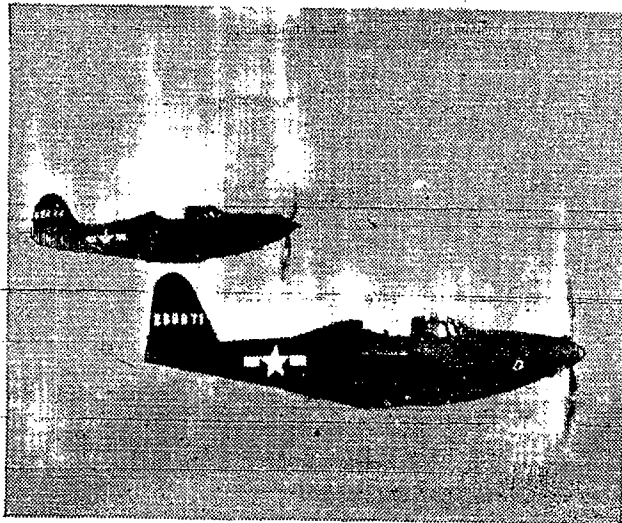

Was this a temporary path to the bomber? If so, where was Mirror Lake trail? Nobody knows.

No one has a map. You are relying entirely on the knowledge of the guide—who informs you that he had never been in the territory before and was relying solely upon second-hand information.

Discovery of a trail, just a rod away, prompts you to conclude that this bulldozer was slashing a new path through the woods. But strangely enough, your newly discovered path is an old trail. Impression of wagon wheels can be traced here and there. Logs have fallen. They are decaying with age.

Then someone detects a blaze mark on a tree. The blaze re-

OUR BOYS and GIRLS
... IN THE SERVICE

A letter has been received by Mrs. Tina Tahvonen of Grayling about her son, Emil, who has completed 15 months of overseas duty and has been rated an excellent soldier. Emil's work is as a cryptographer. "He performs duties requiring intelligence, industry and reliability—qualities which we have found him to possess in a high degree," the letter states.

"As Commanding Officer of the 1st A. C. S. Group, I am proud of Emil. The effectiveness of this detachment, and of the A. C. S. as a whole, depends upon men like him—and to men like him will go a large share of the honor of victory," the letter concluded. The letter was signed by Guy H. Rockey, Lt. Col. Air Corps, Commanding.

Sgt. George A. Hanson of Grayling is at present attached to a Troop Carrier Group somewhere in the European Theater of Operations, which was recently cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy.

Towing Gliders over the Cherbourg peninsula prior to and just after H-Hour on D-Day, under the command of Colonel William B. Whitacre, this group flew more sorties than any other Troop Carrier Group.

Prior to entering the Army Air Forces in August, 1942, Sgt. Hanson was employed by the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn.

Corporal Lloyd G. Gierke of Grayling who now serves with a 12th Air Force Thunderbolt Fighter Group, is authorized to wear the Presidential Unit Citation Ribbon.

Cpl. Gierke's group was recently cited by the President for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations".

Cpl. Gierke is in the Medical Detachment with the group and has been overseas for sixteen months.

Recent graduate of the Kingman Army Air Field Flexible Gunnery school, situated a few miles outside Kingman, Arizona, is 20-year-old Pfc. John C. Post.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Welsh that their son, Lt. Tom Welsh, is now based in Italy. He is flying the now famous and battle-tested P-38's.

of Frederic Pfc. Post entered the of Frederic Pfc. Post entered the Army at Detroit on March 7, 1944. He attended Frederic High School.

As a student gunner at the school, Pfc. Post went through an intensive training in ballistics, sighting, turret maintenance and aircraft machine guns. He was given two weeks of air firing before being presented with his gunnery wings.

Robert Sorenson, Sp. (M) 3-c, is now working in the Fleet Post Office at San Francisco. He is stationed at Hotel Bayford at 111 Taylor in that city.

Pfc. William A. Hunter of Grayling an automatic rifleman, is a member of the 350th Infantry Regiment, one of the 88th Infantry Division units which landed on the beach at the opening of the May 11 drive. Particularly outstanding in their drive was the capture of Mt. Cianelli in 51 minutes after the opening of the May 11 drive. Seizure of this height has been described as the most important clash in the initial action against the Gustave Line, since it cleared the flank of the French Corps and enabled the French to crash through the bottleneck that was Castelforte.

STATE PLANS FOR NEW PAVEMENT

A report of progress on surveys and drawing of plans for projects on the Michigan Highway Department's proposed $130,000,000 post-war construction program is given by Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. Included is Crawford County, with plans started for 6 miles of new pavement as part of the proposed relocation of U. S. 27 along the west side of Higgins Lake.

Registration Here
Holds About Even

Early Wednesday, the general registration in the City of Grayling seemed to be about even with other years, according to City Manager George Granger.

Over 800 have registered so far, he said. An additional 40 men in the services are also registered for this election only.

Other votes from boys in the service could be forthcoming, Granger explained, as the soldier's registration is on the back of the ballot envelope which contains the ballot. These votes, according to law, can be counted if they are received before the polls close on the evening of November 7, Granger added.

There is no provision in the soldier vote bill at present, however, to allow servicemen to vote in municipal elections.

Meeting was called to order at 4:00 p. m., Friday, October 13, by President Stanley Flower. First order of business was the reading of minutes of the Sept. 15th meeting and the report on the financial condition for the past fiscal year.

At the September meeting, 14 names were selected from the membership to be placed on ballots for submission to the members to select eight directors to act for the fiscal year 1945. As a result of the ballot the following members were selected to act for the coming year: Arthur T. Clough, Dr. R. A. VanVleck, Joseph Stripe, Earl R. Burns, Leslie Hunter, Stanley Flower, Mrs. Clara Sorenson, and Jerome Kessler.

The next order of business was the selection of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer for 1945. The following were unanimously elected: President, Arthur Clough; Vice-President, Leslie Hunter; and Secretary - Treasurer, Jerome Kessler.

At this point the President's chair was turned over to Arthur Clough and the balance of the night's business was conducted by the new president.

President Clough appointed Joseph Stripe and Dr. VanVleck to gather information on the cost and location of signs along the highways entering Grayling.

Considerable time was spent in discussing the feasibility of changing the name of the organization to the "Crawford County Chamber of Commerce". However, after discussion it was resolved to include the following in future advertising: "Serving all of Crawford County".

Suggestion was made by President Clough to invite authorities in the County to explain their plans regarding post-war planning for the City and County.

Earl Burns, Leslie Hunter and Stanley Flower were appointed as a committee to formulate the plans for the coming membership drive. The Secretary was instructed to mail notices of dues to all members and potential members in the County.

Meeting adjourned at 10:00 p. m.

Issue Warning On October Tire Quotas

October tire quotas in no way warrant relaxation of the tire recapping program, and worn casings should be recapped before an attempt is made to obtain a new tire, Chairman A. J. Joseph of the Crawford County War Price and Rationing Board, warned today.

The quota of Grade 1 passenger car tires for Crawford County is 27, while the quota of truck tires for the county is 5. Both fall far below the normal demand for tires, Mr. Joseph says. "I'm sure anyone who has received a certificate for a new tire from the board, and then has had to go looking for the tire will agree with me that new rubber is scarce," he continued. "Dealer stocks seem to be at low ebb and I am told that city dwellers who are unable to find tires at home are coming to the smaller towns in an effort to locate them."

"The tire situation is serious, and the easiest way out is to have the tires recapped as long as the carcass will stand it," Mr. Joseph added.

Both head and leaf lettuce may be had two or three weeks earlier by growing the crop from plants started inside early in March.

APPEALS COURT
AFFIRMS DECISION

A judgment of $37,500 held by the National Log Construction Company of Grayling against the Federal Government was reaffirmed by the Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, Ohio, on October 5, Royale A. Wright was informed last week.

The judgment was awarded the local company by Judge Arthur Tuttle at Bay City when the condemnation proceedings were brought before him.

The lands and buildings of the National Log Construction Company were condemned to make room for the enlarging of the local airport.

The award represents $18,000 which was the government's original offer, plus $18,000 judgment awarded the company. The awarded judgment will carry 6% interest dating from August, 1942.

The original government offer was rejected by the company and proceedings went before Judge Tuttle in Bay City. R. A. Wright represented the stockholders and won his case.

In August, 1943, Mr. Wright received notice that the Federal Government intended to appeal the judgment in lieu of an offer of settlement outside of court, which they submitted and was rejected by Mr. Wright.

The Sunday School members wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank everyone who in any way helped to make the wastepaper drive the huge success that it was.

Proposals Number 3 and 4

Proposal Number 3, a proposed amendment to the State Constitution, is relative to the compensation of members of the legislature. The only proposed change is in Section 9 of the State Constitution, to raise the per diem rate from $3 to $5 for each member of the Legislature. This proposal, in my opinion, should be passed. Any citizen of Michigan who can not stay at home from the legislature and make at least that much per day is certainly the exception, and we want good men in our legislature. We must expect to at least give them enough to exist on while at Lansing.

Now we come to Proposal Number 4, the Home Rule amendment, it is called. The representatives of local government from the 83 counties of Michigan gathered in Lansing a week or so ago and pledged themselves to an all-out campaign to defeat this amendment. Mail has been reaching my desk for the last two weeks denouncing the amendment and asking the support of the newspapers of Michigan in the fight.

Their arguments are that it is not Home Rule, but gives Detroit full sway over 11 cities and 17 townships in Wayne County. In the last two elections, these communities voted against the amendment. They comprise a total population in excess of 500,000.

In the state such groups as the Michigan Institute of Local Government, the Michigan Association of Supervisors, State Association of Sheriffs, the County Clerks and Treasurers, the Michigan Federation of Labor, and the C. I. O. have all taken the stand of "No" on the proposal. This is certainly a vast majority of the political life of the state. The proposal, however, has been branded a good thing by some extremely smart men. The answer lies in a statement made by the editor of the Legal Courier of Detroit: "While looking very innocent now so far as they (the editors of the state) are concerned, maybe it is loaded so it will hit them in the future."

National League of Catholic Women Meets Here

St. Mary's group of the National Council of Catholic Women entertained at the fall meeting of the Gaylord Deaneys of the Council at St. Mary's parish hall, Wednesday evening of last week. There were 81 ladies present, among whom were representatives from Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City, Manicouche, Gaylord and Grayling.

The meeting opened with a prayer recited in unison, and a short musical program followed, when Mrs. Leo Koerper sang "Through the Years" and "Jericho". The junior choir—Patricia Heric, Margaret Charron, Jean Rasmussen, Rose Ann Kearney and Sally Brady—followed with two numbers, "Sweet and Low" and "Lullaby", and Mrs. Francis Gross sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Richard Lovely, president of the local group, after a few introductory remarks, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Ralph Hamilton of Charlevoix, president of Gaylord Deaneys. Convention reports were given and general business taken care of, after which Mrs. Joseph Rosbach, president of the League of Catholic Women of Bay City, gave a very interesting and enlightening talk on the social welfare work of her organization.

Following the meeting a buffet lunch was served by the Grayling ladies, Mrs. Thomas Cassidy and Mrs. David Montour presiding at the coffee table that was lavishly with an arrangement of yellow mums and green tapers in crystal holders.

Credit for the success of this meeting is shared by the following ladies who were chairmen of the various committees with their co-workers: Mrs. Richard Lovely, general chairman; Mrs. C. J. McNamara, decorations; Mrs. Leo Koerper, music; Mrs. Willard Cornell, refreshments.

HOST AND HOSTESS

Miss Burrows, Homemaking teacher, has had School Hosts and Hostesses functioning for the past four weeks. On this project High School students volunteer to act as a receptionist for the school one hour each day. The following students have been serving on this project for the past term:

LIBRARIANS

Our library is under the supervision of Miss Bennett who has a group of high school students serving as librarians during the school day.

A week ago last Friday and Saturday they rearranged the cases and dusted each one of the 1700 odd books as well as repairing some of them. The library is now arranged much better and is more available to the students.

The student librarians include: Lois Berry, Faith Nolan, Janice Goshorn, Joanne Bishaw, Mary Lou Graham and Caroline Nelson.

EXAMS AND REPORT CARDS

Last Thursday and Friday were the days for the first term examinations and Wednesday noon the first report cards of the year were issued.

The report cards should be signed by the parent or guardian to show that the card has been examined at home. Cards are to be returned to the school at once.

HUNTERS

Sunday marked the opening day of bird season. Monday was allowed to high school students in good standing for hunting provided they presented a permit from home a hunting license and a make up sheet signed by each teacher showing that their work for that day was completed ahead of time.

ASSEMBLIES

Last Wednesday Mr. Russell Martin, Superintendent of the Conservation Training School at Higgins Lake gave a fine talk and demonstration of "Safety in Firearms".

Nearly 130 boys from the seventh grade and up attended. They found that climbing fences, jumping on brush piles and falling on the gun were responsible for many accidents. 75 percent of them were caused by members of a party or group within themselves.

Mr. Martin demonstrated with 16 different guns the methods of holding and handling guns in order to insure proper safety. The difference in the explosive power of the black and smokeless powder by demonstration, showing why an old make gun

Thursday and Friday of this week our crew, together with some volunteers, are going to the woods to dig up trees for planting on Saturday. We hope to be able to muster up a large enough crew to bring in around three hundred trees for planting.

Our City Council, at its last meeting, allotted some plots to the American Legion which the Legion will have improved and given permanent care.

We are indebted to Kerry & Hanson Flooring Co., for the use of one of their large trucks.

Messrs. McIvers and Marshall and their associates, who recently purchased the Schoonover Garage are donating the use of their largest truck, and will do the hauling of our trees, gratis. It really is wonderful how our business men are donating to our cause; in fact, we are receiving county-wide co-operation, and with a continuance of this co-operation, we will be successful in our efforts beyond measure. May we again express sincere thanks of your Cemetery Committee.

Kiwanis Club Notes

"Memo To Joe" was the title of a short movie explaining the United War Fund, which was presented by Emil Giegling, program chairman, at this week's meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

The subject was presented excellently by Quentin Reynolds, the famous war correspondent. Many action shots interspersed the reel. The multitude of things that the United War Fund helps accomplish were depicted.

A petition was passed by the club to be sent the district Representative and Senator in Washington. The petition sets forth that the Kiwanis Club of Grayling believes that the decision by the Supreme Court to take the control and regulation of insurance from the State and place it under the control of the Federal Government is against the fundamental principles of our democracy.

The petition asks that the representatives from this district support the Bailey Bill, which will place the control of insurance back to the states. Thirty-nine states have petitioned the U. S. Supreme Court to grant a re-hearing in the case on which the decision was handed down.

"For the past 75 years the Supreme Court of the United States had held that insurance was not commerce, and therefore was not subject to Federal Anti-Trust laws. Last June, reversing the decision of the past 75 years, the Supreme Court, in a close decision in a case in which two justices did not participate and is dangerous to use with modern smokeless shells.

It is better to get a good single barrel gun than to get a cheap bolt or pump action gun. Many rebuilt guns such as discarded army rifles do not have the small head space necessary to safely stand the 50,000 lb. per square inch pressure often developed when a gun is fired.

Afterward a question and answer period was held. Besides other things it was found that over a hundred of the boys plan to hunt this year.

OLD NEWSPAPER

Through the courtesy of Mr. Charles Moore the students have had the privilege of seeing a newspaper printed in Uster County, N. Y., on January 4, 1800. The paper carried articles on the death of George Washington.

The advertisements and notices were also very interesting and told of many of the problems the people of that day were confronted with.

HEALTH

Mrs. Corwin, School Nurse, and Mrs. Gorman, the County Children's Fund Doctor, in examining boys who plan to take part in basketball and baseball, and the Kindergarten pupils.

Pre-school children and the Kindergarten through Fourth Graders, were also given the Schick test to determine a child's susceptibility to or protection against diphtheria, immunized for diphtheria, and vaccinated for smallpox.

Dr. Lehman, Children's Fund Dentist, who has been here since August 28, left Friday. While here he helped several hundred children of Crawford County keep their teeth in good repair.

The Doctors and Nurses have our sincere thanks.

The Council also appointed committees to set up:

1. Uniform report cards for class treasurers and secretaries.
2. Outline for class presidents to use in conducting meetings.
3. Policies for preparing, conducting and reporting class activities.

SHOP CLASS VISITS LOCAL INDUSTRY

On October 2nd, the Ninth Grade shop class visited the Dore Manufacturing plant of Grayling to learn what industrial methods are being used in manufacturing war materials. The class enjoyed a very instructive and interesting tour of the plant.

Mr. Leo Koerper, who conducted the party through the plant, stopped at each machine to explain the operations necessary in the production of the part being manufactured.

Some of the machines observed were the lathe, shaper, mill, radial drill, and the external grinder.

The class wishes to thank Mr. Koerper and the Dore Manufacturing Company for this opportunity of becoming acquainted with our local industry.

On October 19 the class plans to visit Grayling's new industry, the Tucker Toy Factory. It is by means of such excursions that interests are aroused, and vocations in some case, chosen by the students.

HALLOWEEN PROGRAM

The usual games, parade, prizes and treats will prevail in co-operation with the city.

The newly formed "Moms" will assist during the evening, and will sponsor a party in the gym after the treats. This project is to raise money to pay for the Christmas boxes being sent to all the men and women in service overseas and within the United States.

All boys and girls are asked to avoid all destruction of property and be very careful this Halloween season, as every broken light bulb, fence, or other materials damaged will mean that much less for our boys in service. Let's all help so they can have more.

Let's Face the Facts

three others handed down two separate and strong dissents, declared the insurance business constitutes interstate commerce and is, therefore, subject to the federal regulations pertaining to such commerce. Although the decision was actually confined to only one branch of the business, it is generally conceded that the present court at least would find the same for any other branch," was the preamble of the Kiwanis Club petition.

Good government requires practical men with executive ability and a strong sense of public responsibility. Michigan has found the right combination in the group of men who, under the leadership of Governor Kelly, will administer our State government during the next two years.

Your Republican administration has increased Government efficiency, brought the State through precarious war years in good shape, and has carefully planned for post-war employment, veteran re-employment, care of the dependent aged and children and a multitude of other immediate problems.

Good government has always been hard to get. Now that we, in Michigan, have it, let's keep it!

John D. Morrison for At. General

WILD SHOOTING

Sheriff John A. Papendick is investigating a strange occurrence that happened at his home at 5 minutes to noon, Tuesday. A slug from a 22-calibre shell smashed through his kitchen window, landing on the floor within six feet of his wife.

As the kitchen is located in the northwest corner of the Sheriff's home, it appears that the shot was fired somewhere to the southwest of the building, or near downtown.

The Sheriff said it appeared as though the bullet had lost most of its velocity, as it did not penetrate the wall, but just dropped to the floor after drilling through the kitchen window.

Lt. Col. Libcke Awarded Bronze Star

Lt. Col. John W. Libcke has been awarded the Bronze Star "for meritorious service against the enemy in France from August 27 to September 15," according to a headquarters dispatch received by his wife, who is making her home in Grayling for the duration.

Lt. Col. Libcke is attached to the General Staff Corps. Although their home is in Detroit, Mrs. Libcke, the former Ingeborg Hanson, lived in Grayling all her life until she was married to Lt. Col. Libcke.

One Less Tramp in Our Town

Eather Curless found a tramp asleep in the hammock in her apple orchard, and she didn't hesitate a minute. She grabs a rolling pin—and the last they saw of him, the tramp was making dust tracks to the state line.

"It ain't only that I don't like laziness," says Esther, "specialty in wartime. It's that that particular hammock is Ned's hammock—and Ned's fightin' for it overseas!"

Then she shows us Ned's last letter where he says: "I keep dreaming of my hammock in the orchard, with Rags lying beside me, and a cool glass of beer beside me."

A soldier's picture of home! The little friendly pleasures that he misses so! From where I sit, Esther's mighty right in wanting to defend those "little things" from all intruders. They're among the things our men look forward to returning to—the things we want to keep intact for them.

Letters From Boys In Service

Italy, Sept. 28, 1944.

Dear Mr. Schumann:

This is the first time I have written to you since I joined the Army over two years ago. I always intended to write but never seemed to get around to it. I want to thank you for sending me the Avalanche. I certainly appreciate it and enjoy reading about the old home town. The woods must be beautiful there now with the leaves turning. And it will soon be hunting season. I guess that's one of the things that I miss the most.

I have been over here in Italy for about 8 months now and have been to quite a few of the larger cities including Bari, Naples and Foggia.

Mt. Vesuvius is quite a sight, rising above the harbor at Naples. I haven't been able to see Rome yet, but I hope to before I leave here. Well I must close now. Cpl. Donald Babbitt, c-o Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men...and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away...either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

Following an old blazed trail through a virgin forest is adventure with a capital 'A'. But it is also hard work. At times you must literally climb over the trunk of a huge tree that had been uprooted by a storm and which lay untouched after it had crashed to the ground.

Twice the winding trail seemed to vanish. Other members of your party fan out until someone locates it.

Yes, it is a trail all right. But you notice something odd—your compass indicates clearly that you are traveling southwest. You had set the arrow on your paratrooper's wrist watch compass at 330 degrees, a few points west of north.

Finally, about 2:30 p. m., after more than four hours on the trail, your party stops for a consultation. Rays of golden sunlight filter through the dense foliage. Hours of daylight are limited. And, not carrying a pack with food and a sleeping bag or blankets, you realize that you can not reach Mirror Lake

Yes, you have been beaten by the wilderness!

The above incident really DID happen.

While we waited for the guide to rejoin us, four newspapermen built a fire in a hollow near the trail. Frankfurters, wrapped in bacon, soon became steaming, appetizing "pigs in blankets". That cheese sandwich prepared by the restaurant girl at Ewen suddenly became a delectable tidbit. And cold water, dipped from a nearby stream, was like sweet nectar itself.

We lounged on the ground, joking about how we had been "lost" in the Porcupines—at least to the extent of having missed Mirror Lake. At that moment it was a keen disappointment, for cameras were loaded with natural color film and we were anticipating scenic delights to record at Mirror Lake, our destination.

On the previous day we had climbed Porcupine Mountain near the Lake of the Clouds. Actually the mountain consists of a long escarpment with black, rocky peaks.

The views were inspiring. To the south lay the Lake of the Clouds, catching the blue reflection of the sky. The foliage of millions of trees was turning to reds and yellows. The air was exhilarating. You liked it. You gazed west and east toward a series of peaks. Here was the setting for a five-mile scenic highway which, like a roller-coaster Brockway drive on Keweenaw, would afford a sensational vista to touring motorists.

And here on the mountain top, fairly level for a block was the site for a log chalet and a cluster of family cabins. Let the State of Michigan build them. Let a competent hotel operator lease them. Yes, you conclude, here was the opportunity for someone who possessed courage and skill to create one of the great wonder attractions of the Middle West.

Let the forest before you remain what it is today—a wilderness of mountain ranges, timber and streams. Provide access to it by foot trails and bridle paths.

But don't destroy the greatest virtue it now possesses—the virgin forest wilderness which can beat man as it did us, when he penetrate its many secrets.

Who blazed the trail to the southwest? Was it made by a mining prospector whose claim and lonely cabin are now hidden by forest decay? Yes, we're going back some day to try again. Such is the lure of the porcupines.
